Who are we?

BETTER INSECT SOLUTIONS

Big Dutchman has manufactured and developed feeding systems and housing equipment for modern pig and poultry production since 1938 – offering practical, economical, and environment-friendly solutions geared to future needs.

Big Dutchman is the recognized market leader in the entire industry. Across five continents our name stands for long-lasting quality, rapid service and unsurpassed know-how. Our innovations have had considerable impact on livestock management and will continue to do so.

The idea of a ventilation system, and the foundation of SKOV, was born mid-1960s by the Skov brothers who, at that time, were running the largest egg production facility in Scandinavia.

Today, SKOV is a world leader in climate and farm management for animal production. It is because we produce the best all-in solutions that increase livestock productivity. We customize our solution to ensure that you benefit from local production conditions and achieve the best possible production results.

Inno+ is on a mission to providing optimum climate conditions worldwide with innovative climate and air cleaning solutions in which animals perform optimally all year round – and with the benefit of generating higher income and lower costs.

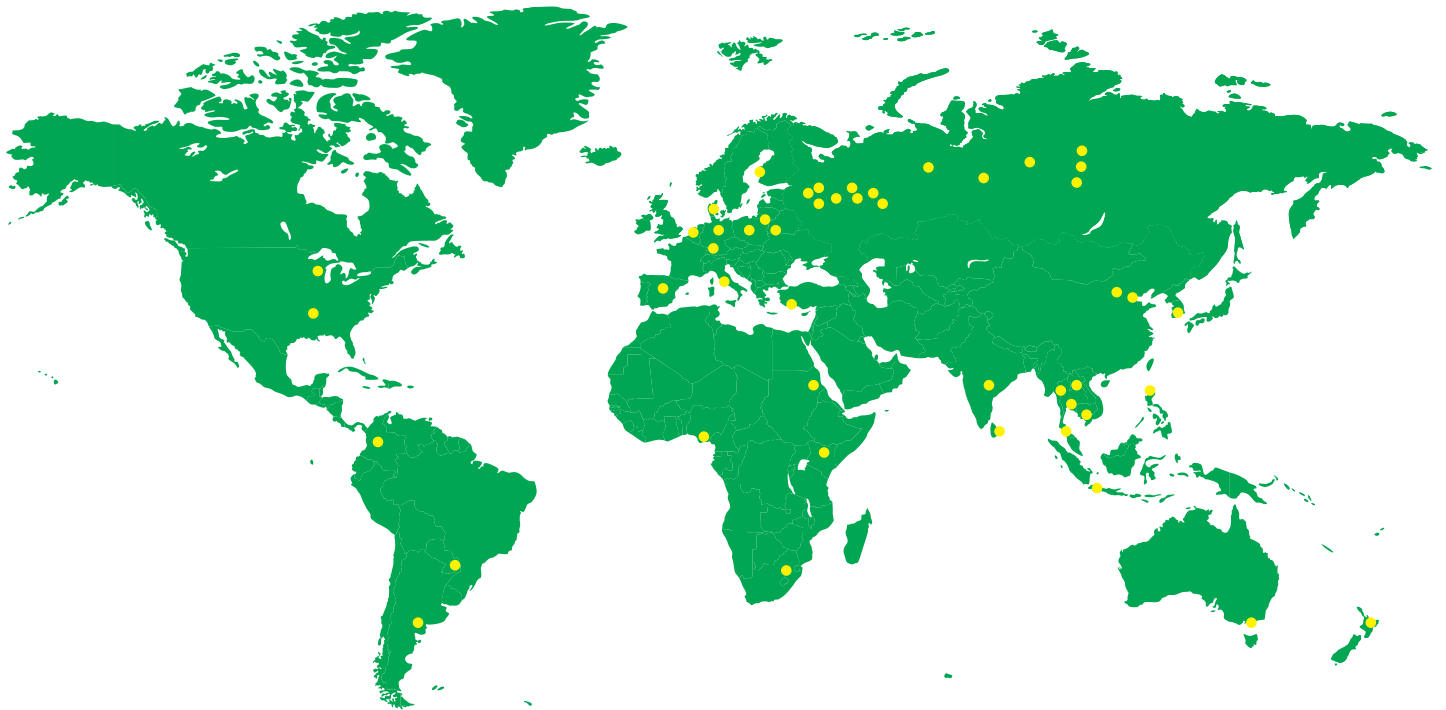

It is our goal to create optimum housing conditions by improving the well-being of the animals, reducing ammonia, odor and particulate matter emissions, creating an energy-neutral business, and substantially increasing revenue for the entrepreneur.
